

DYNAMICS

REVIEW

1. An expressive style typical of some early music in which volume levels shift abruptly from soft to loud and back without gradual crescendos and decrescendos is called
 - terraced dynamics
 - loudness
 - softness
 - expressive dynamics
2. Piano pianissimo or pianissimo possibile is a musical term that means
 - softest possible
 - very quiet
 - quiet
 - moderately quiet
3. Pianissimo is a musical term that means
 - softest possible
 - very quiet
 - quiet
 - moderately quiet
4. Piano is a musical term that means
 - softest possible
 - very quiet
 - quiet
 - moderately quiet
5. Mezzo piano is a musical term that means
 - softest possible
 - very quiet
 - quiet
 - moderately quiet
6. Mezzo forte is a musical term that means
 - moderately loud
 - very loud
 - loud
 - loudest possible
 - loud and then immediately soft
7. Forte is a musical term that means
 - moderately loud
 - very loud
 - loud
 - loudest possible
 - loud and then immediately soft
8. Fortissimo is a musical term that means
 - moderately loud
 - very loud

- loud
 - loudest possible
 - loud and then immediately soft
9. Fortissimo is a musical term that means
- moderately loud
 - very loud
 - loud
 - loudest possible
 - loud and then immediately soft
10. Fortepiano is a musical term that means
- moderately loud
 - very loud
 - loud
 - loudest possible
 - loud and then immediately soft
11. Crescendo is a musical term that means
- a gradual increase in volume
 - a gradual decrease in volume
12. Decrescendo or diminuendo is a musical term that means
- a gradual increase in volume
 - a gradual decrease in volume
13. Sforzando is a musical term that indicates
- a forceful accent and is abbreviated as sf, sfz or fz.
 - a forte followed immediately by piano.
 - Fortepiano notation fp is a musical term that indicates
 - a forceful accent and is abbreviated as sf, sfz or fz.
 - a forte followed immediately by piano.
 - soft and then immediately strong
 - sforzando followed immediately by piano
14. Pianoforte is a musical term that means
- a forceful accent and is abbreviated as sf, sfz or fz.
 - a forte followed immediately by piano.
 - soft and then immediately strong
 - sforzando followed immediately by piano
15. Sforzando piano (sfzp or sfp) is a musical term that means
- a forceful accent and is abbreviated as sf, sfz or fz.
 - a forte followed immediately by piano.
 - soft and then immediately strong
 - sforzando followed immediately by piano
16. Rinforzando, rfz or rf is a musical term that means
- that several notes, or a short phrase, are to be emphasized
 - moderately strong and then immediately soft
 - dying away (may also indicate a tempo change
 - with marked emphasis, then immediately soft
17. Mezzoforte piano is a musical term that means

- that several notes, or a short phrase, are to be emphasized
- moderately strong and then immediately soft
- dying away (may also indicate a tempo change
- with marked emphasis, then immediately soft

18. Morendo is a musical term that means

- that several notes, or a short phrase, are to be emphasized
- moderately strong and then immediately soft
- dying away (may also indicate a tempo change
- with marked emphasis, then immediately soft

19. Sforzando piano is a musical term that means

- that several notes, or a short phrase, are to be emphasized
- moderately strong and then immediately soft
- dying away (may also indicate a tempo change
- with marked emphasis, then immediately soft

20. Sotto voce is a musical term that means

- in an undertone (whispered or unvoiced)
- becoming muffled or toned down
- stressed, pronounced

21. Smorzando is a musical term that means

- in an undertone (whispered or unvoiced)
- becoming muffled or toned down
- stressed, pronounced

22. Marcato is a musical term that means

- in an undertone (whispered or unvoiced)
- becoming muffled or toned down
- stressed, pronounced